Dear Mr. Frye:

I thank you for your letter of May 12, 1975 announcing the Joseph C. Wilson Award for Achievement and Promise in International Affairs.

I regret that I am unable to nominate an individual to be considered for this outstanding recognition this year but hope that I can do so at some future time.

Sincerely,

(SIGNED)

W. E. Colby
Director

Dear Member:

The Xerox Corporation, the University of Rochester, and the Rochester Association for the United Nations have established the Joseph C. Wilson Award for Achievement and Promise in International Affairs. We have been asked whether members of the Council community wish to offer nominations, and thinking that you might welcome such an opportunity, I am passing along the information being distributed by the sponsors of this award.

"The Award honors the late Mr. Wilson, who was a founder of the RAUN, chairman and chief executive officer of Xerox, and long-time chairman of the University's Board of Trustees. The Award will recognize an individual for high achievement and potential in activities contributing to the peaceful resolution of international problems. The recipient will be chosen annually, after a nationwide canvass, by a panel of prominent citizens.

"The winner will receive $10,000, contributed by Xerox Corporation, to provide some form of enriching experience, training, or study that might not otherwise be available or to assist in the completion of a special project of international significance.

"The winner will be announced each United Nations Day beginning October 24, 1975. The University of Rochester will arrange with the recipient for discussions, lectures, and seminars to be given in the Rochester area for several days during the spring following the announcement.

"Nominations for the 1975 Award are to be made before July 31, 1975, and should be addressed to: Joseph C. Wilson Award
Box G
Midtown Plaza
Rochester, New York 14604

"Eligibility Guidelines: A nominee must be a U.S. civilian near mid-career. Each nomination should be accompanied by a biography of the nominee, a supporting statement of two to five pages, and the names of four other persons competent to appraise the nominee's qualifications. Additional details may be obtained by writing to the above address."

A number of Council members have been involved in planning this Award and the sponsors will be especially interested in any recommendation you may care to offer.

Sincerely yours,

Alton Frye
